Connect Telephone & Computer Group Merges with leading Telecom Provider Northwest Telecom

BILLINGS, MT – March 15, 2008- Connect Telephone & Computer Group, a leader in business communications, announced today it's acquisition of Northwest Telecom Inc., a Bozeman Montana Corporation and leading supplier of voice services and systems in the region. The transaction became official as of January 1st 2008 Northwest will fall under the Connect Telephone & Computer Group banner, keeping the majority of local staff.

"Bill Warwood and his team at Northwest Telecom have a great reputation and a long history of taking care of their clients" sighted Matt Duray, owner of the Connect Group. "We see this as a great opportunity to blend the people products and services of our companies to provide the region with unsurpassed business technology solutions.

"I'm excited about the prospect to grow our product offering and reach." Stated Bill Warwood, CEO of Northwest Telecom. "There are rapid changes happening in the market today, your telephone is no longer just a telephone to place and receive calls it's a communications platform with the ability to collapse distance and enhance understanding. Converging voice with video and applications like Net Meeting is what excites me about the future of the industry."

Bill Warwood will stay with the company as a Senior Advocate, a position that places him directly in contact with the customer base on a weekly basis. "I'm very pleased that the majority of the staff is remaining with us" stated Duray "Northwest has a solid staff with several years of experience not just in the industry but with the company, this is an unbelievable added asset to the Connect Group."
